North Ridgeville 9/11 Remembrance Ceremony

North Ridgeville hosted a patriotic 9/11 Remembrance Ceremony at Ranger Stadium the morning of September 11, 2021.

Marking the 20th Anniversary of the Nation's tragedy the city presented a stirring ceremony honoring those who sacrificed so much.

Mark Madere of Spectralight Studios was on hand to capture the memorable event both in video and with photographs. It's a record of a historical community event that otherwise would not have been preserved. spectralight.com/myblog/. See page 2 for more photos.

Snakes Alive!

North Ridgeville Police have seen it all! Well, almost. Until this week. They've seen a kangaroo, a "Moodini" and even a raccoon in a dishwasher. This week it was a 6 foot snake (we think). Now they have seen it all.

Here's the adventure in their own words. Bravo on the story telling!

"Well. The call was a big Diamondback Rattlesnake in the middle of Lorain Rd. Now normally you'd just shrug this off as someone getting all excited about a little garter snake and over reacting. Except for one very important part of this story that I left out.

"Officer John Metzo was dispatched to it.

"John rescued a kangaroo. He pulled a raccoon out of a dishwasher. He caught a cow named "Moodini" that fell out of a truck. If anyone was going to a Diamondback Rattlesnake call, it's John.

"Now, keep in mind that we're not an urban community but we're urban enough that we don't run into a lot of wildlife outside of deer and raccoons. And kangaroos. And cows, that are actually bulls, but whatever. And pigs following people home. And skunks with cups on their heads. I digress.

"We found said rattlesnake on the side of Lorain Rd. but it wasn't rattling. And it was 27 feet long. And might have been a cobra. In fairness we don't know snakes.

"John gets it off the road with a noose and now he's mad. The anaconda, not John. I look at John, John looks at me. "Now what?" I ask. We agree that we can't release a 30 foot black mamba into the neighborhood so we call the Metroparks and they send out a Ranger.

"Turns out it's a 6 foot rat snake. Don't judge us. It looked bigger when it tried to kill us.

"Anyway. All's well. The Ranger seized the nope rope and took him to the land of nope ropes so he can live out his days, apparently chasing rats.

"No snakes were harmed in this incident. We can't speak for what's about to happen to the rats."

Lorain County Public Health: Food Safety Matters

From Your Favorite Restaurant to Your Next Tailgate or Game-day Party

Lorain County Public Health (LCPH) works to prevent people from getting sick or injured -- now and in the future. This includes preventing food poisoning when you go out to eat. In fact, LCPH educates and inspects every place in Lorain County that sells food... including more than 1,400 restaurants, grocery stores, food trucks and even vending machines! Visit LorainCountyHealth.com/foodsafety to see inspection reports.

“Our food inspectors work closely with restaurants and other places that sell food in Lorain County,” said Dave Covell, MPH, RS, health commissioner at LCPH. “They make sure that the vendors follow Ohio food laws. They also educate vendors on the science behind the laws so they understand how they’re protecting customers from getting sick.”

LCPH food inspectors also:

- Provide handwashing signs for vendors to hang in their bathrooms and near kitchen sinks.
- Encourage vendors to donate leftover foods to Lorain County food pantries through the Bill Emerson Good Samaritan Act.

- Provide food safety training for food servers and managers.

LCPH reminds residents that food safety also matters at home, tailgating events and game day parties. Follow these food safety tips to keep yourself and guests safe from food poisoning:

- Keep hot foods at 135°F or warmer. Use chafing dishes, slow cookers, and warming trays to keep food hot.
- Keep cold foods, like salsa and guacamole, at 40°F or colder. Use small service trays or nest serving dishes in bowls of ice.
- Put cooked food and leftovers in a refrigerator or freezer as soon as possible—always within two hours of preparing, or one hour if the food is exposed to temperatures above 90°F (like a hot car or tailgate party).

For more information on how we make your health & safety our priorities, contact Lorain County Public Health at 440-322-6367 or visit LorainCountyHealth.com. Follow your local health department on Twitter @LorainCoHealth, Facebook, or YouTube.

Danbury Senior Living: What Can a Pet Do For a Senior?

What can a pet do for a senior?

The question should be, "What CAN'T a pet do for a senior?" Pets and interacting with pets are important as we age. For seniors, the benefits of a furry companion can be life-changing or even lifesaving! Here are a few of the many benefits:

Walking a dog is great cardiovascular exercise.

The simple act of caring for a pet (petting, brushing, feeding) provides both mild activity, and a means to stay engaged.

Pets can make the elderly feel needed, and that feeling can translate into a greater sense of purpose and self-worth.

During what can be a lonely time of life, the unconditional love of a cherished dog or cat can be a bridge to more socialization with others, lowered stress, mental stimulation, and a renewed interest in life.

When the time arrives for you or your loved one to make a move to an assisted living community, it's important to work with someone that knows that pets are family too. Bringing your beloved four-legged pal with you can make the transition less stressful and may even help you make new friends. Danbury Senior Living understands that and is proud to be a pet-friendly community!

We should note that it's not just owning a pet that has benefits but visiting with different pets is also valuable! We welcome furry friends of all shapes and sizes to visit our Danbury residents as well.

Want to learn more about how you and your pet can Experience the Danbury Difference? Give us a call at 440-596-3797 or visit us online at www.DanburySeniorLiving.com.
